SUBJECT OF RESOLUTION: Industrial Development Cooperation
SUBMITTED TO: The Second Committee
SUBMITTED BY: India, Argentina, Fiji, Lebanon, United States of America, Uganda

The Second Committee

1 Recognizing the importance of industrial development cooperation in promoting
2 global trade and economic interdependence, integration,

4 Further recognizing the intrinsic link between increased industrial development
5 and global and regional security through the stability offered by economic growth,

7 Noting with regret the difficulties faced by many Member Nations that are unable
8 to attain the Millennium Development Goals by 2015,

10 Considering that the asymmetry of global urban and rural development hinders
11 efforts to integrate rural regions in member states across the world and noting its unique
12 link to the difficulties in attaining these Millennium Development Goals,

14 Noting with satisfaction the increasingly apparent developmental benefits of 15 expanded trade and investments in health-care and educational capacities,
16

17 Believing that micro-credit and micro-financing offer a unique opportunity to 18 target groups specified by the Millennium Development Goals,
19

20 Convinced of the benefits of trade between emerging markets, greater South-South
21 cooperation and the progress made by the programs of UNIDO,

23 Realizing that each country's industrial development progress differs based on 24 economic and social situations unique to that country,
25

26 Recognizing that skilled workers in developing countries emigrate to more 27 developed states due to better job opportunities,
28

29 1. Draws attention to the disadvantages that industry-specific subsidies and 30 market dumping create, as well as revenue short comings in developing countries export
31 industries due to unreciprocated access to foreign markets;

32

33 2. Recommends that all Member States contribute to international development
34 cooperation in order to create more self-sufficient economies among developing states
35 around the world, expanding opportunities for increased global trade by encouraging
36 assistance in financing manufacturing and processing facilities for primary production;
37

39 3. Calls upon governments of Member States, transnational corporations, and non-
40 governmental organizations to expand and maintain foreign direct investment by building 41 and maintaining infrastructure such as roads and railways in rural areas and focusing on 42 increasing trade capacity and educational opportunities for the rural populations around 43 the world;

45 4. Encourages the international community to offer expanded support for Member
46 States struggling to attain their Millennium Development Goals through information
47 sharing, direct investment, skill development through education and supporting increased 48 international trade;

49

50 5. Strongly Recommends an annual conference about specified industries to be 51 held among willing South-South and North-South partners to share the latest innovations 52 in technology and industrial enhancements experienced within their own borders for the 53 sake of bettering future cooperation;

54

55 6. Urges member nations to implement poverty reduction strategies aimed at 56 providing greater educational opportunities, improving health-care infrastructure,
57 working conditions and wages for its population;

58

59 7. Encourages the expansion of access to their micro-credit and micro-financing
60 programs as a means to precisely target diverse segments of the population to improve 61 their standards of living;

63 8. Requests that the international community continue to consider new methods of 64 environmentally sustainable industrial development when seeking to improve the efficiency of production in developing countries.
