American Model United Nations Conference Preparation Newsletter
Information for Representatives! Dress Code and the 2019 Dance.

Greetings from the AMUN Secretariat. Please forward this important information to your students. This newsletter covers information on our Conference Dress Code and Representative Dance, both of which we like to make certain students hear about as early as possible.

AMUN's Dress Code

Like most Model UN Conferences, AMUN has a specific Dress Code for all conference attendees. For your convenience, the full text of this dress code is copied below. This information is also available in our Conference Handbook. Our dress code is meant to be inclusive while encouraging a professional atmosphere for deliberations. If you have any concerns about AMUN's Dress Code or just need clarification please contact us at mail@amun.org.

The appearance of AMUN participants provides the first impressions of their delegation to other representatives. Attention to proper appearance sets an expectation for professionalism and competence. In order to demonstrate respect to fellow representatives, Secretariat members and distinguished guests of the Conference, AMUN requires conservative Western business attire for all representatives and Secretariat during all formal sessions, including the final sessions on Tuesday.

Western business attire is a business jacket or suit, dress slacks or skirt, dress shirt, appropriate hosiery or socks and dress shoes. Attire should follow the rule of being appropriate for visiting an embassy. Conservative accessories such as ties, scarves, and formal jewelry are traditional in business settings. Sweaters or leggings are too casual for Western business attire. Clothing that reveals undergarments in any way is not appropriate. AMUN will not consider any manner of dress appropriate which includes T-shirts, jeans, shorts, hats, athletic shoes or any form of commercial advertising.

Participants shall not wear the traditional or religious garb of any State or organization. The only exception to this is required traditional or religious garb of a student's personal religion or culture. Additionally, participants should not affect the mannerisms, linguistic characteristics or any other perceived traits of a State or culture that they are representing. These affectations are inappropriate and may be seen as offensive by other students or by natives of that State or culture. Small lapel pins representing the delegation's flag or other national symbols are appropriate.

Please be aware that representatives who are not appropriately attired or who do not follow these rules may not be recognized during formal debate in any AMUN simulation. Further, AMUN reserves the right to refuse admittance to the Conference floor to any representative who is inappropriately attired or who violates the above provisions. Decisions about appropriate attire and professional behavior are at the discretion of the AMUN Secretariat.

AMUN's Representative Dance: 1989!

Each year AMUN hosts the premiere Representative Dance of any Model UN conference for all participating AMUN students. We have a DJ and everything. In honor of our 30th Anniversary, this year's theme is 1989!

It's a blast from the past! 1989 was a great year, The Berlin Wall came down, Die Hard was on in theaters for the first time, Bon Jovi let us know that he'll be there for us, and AMUN became a thing! This is the era of Prince, Madonna and New Kids on the Block. So tease your hair as big as possible, pull out your parachute pants or Nike windbreaker. Heck, throw on some leg warmers and channel your inner 80's or early 90's self and open the door to the time machine that will take you back to 1989.

We encourage you to find your favorite 80's outfit for the dance, but dressing to the theme is encouraged, not required. Our Representative dance is held on Monday evening after the close of the last session and will end at 2:00 a.m. For full rules and requirements for the dance, please see the Conference Handbook online.

Why Does AMUN Not Accept Pre-Written Resolutions?

One question the AMUN Secretariat receives fairly often is why will we not accept pre-written resolutions; after all most resolutions at the United Nations are written by a primary author in advance of in-person meetings. And while this is true, it's also true that this is the end product of a long, ongoing, interactive process of diplomacy among Member States. To that end, AMUN wants to emulate the collaborative, consensus-building nature of the United Nations. It is strongly encouraged that Representatives be prepared to begin work on any draft resolution once they arrive at conference and can speak with partner Member States and bloc members.
